Disaster Planning for Pets with Animal Advocate Howard Edelstein

Howard Edelstein's presentation will cover the importance of planning for the animals in your care in the event of a disaster. The presentation will discuss how animal preparedness and sheltering changed after Hurricane Katrina and the importance of the PETS Act. Howard will also be discussing shelters that he has assisted at, both locally and nationally, during disasters and cruelty cases. Also, covered will be the work done by the Montgomery County Animal Response Team (CART).

Howard Edelstein is an animal advocate who, for the past three decades, has worked with various animal protection organizations. He has a background in emergency management and works with several organizations caring for animals during disasters and cruelty cases. Howard has written two children's books. One on emergency preparedness for your companion animals, "Ready or Not, Here it Comes", and the other, "Scooter Strays," is about the dangers a stray dog faces. It is an interactive book that enables you to help Scooter safely find his way home.
